BIOGRAPHY

Marco Pasqua is a dynamic force in accessibility, entrepreneurship, and advocacy. Born with Cerebral Palsy, he has spent his life proving that obstacles are just opportunities in disguise. An award-winning entrepreneur, accessibility consultant, and best-selling author, Marco's journey is fueled by resilience, creativity, and an unwavering belief in the power of human connection.

His public speaking career began at just 10 years old, where he discovered the profound impact of storytelling. Since then, he has become a powerful voice for disability advocacy across Canada, working as a spokesperson for numerous organizations and demonstrating that meaningful change starts with the right energy and mindset.

Marco initially pursued a career in technology, earning his credentials from the Art Institute of Vancouver before spending five years in the video game industry. But when the 2010 recession cost him his job, he saw it as the turning point he didn't know he needed. Instead of playing it safe, he doubled down on his passion for speaking, launching his own brand as a thought leader in accessibility and social impact.

As an entrepreneur, Marco has helped businesses, municipalities, and organizations across multiple industries create more inclusive workplaces, both in their employment strategies and built environments. He has collaborated with the Rick Hansen Foundation, The Presidents Group (accessibleemployers.ca), HireForTalent.ca, and the Province of British Columbia's employment advisory committee, advocating for universal design, workplace inclusion, and accessibility improvements in physical spaces.

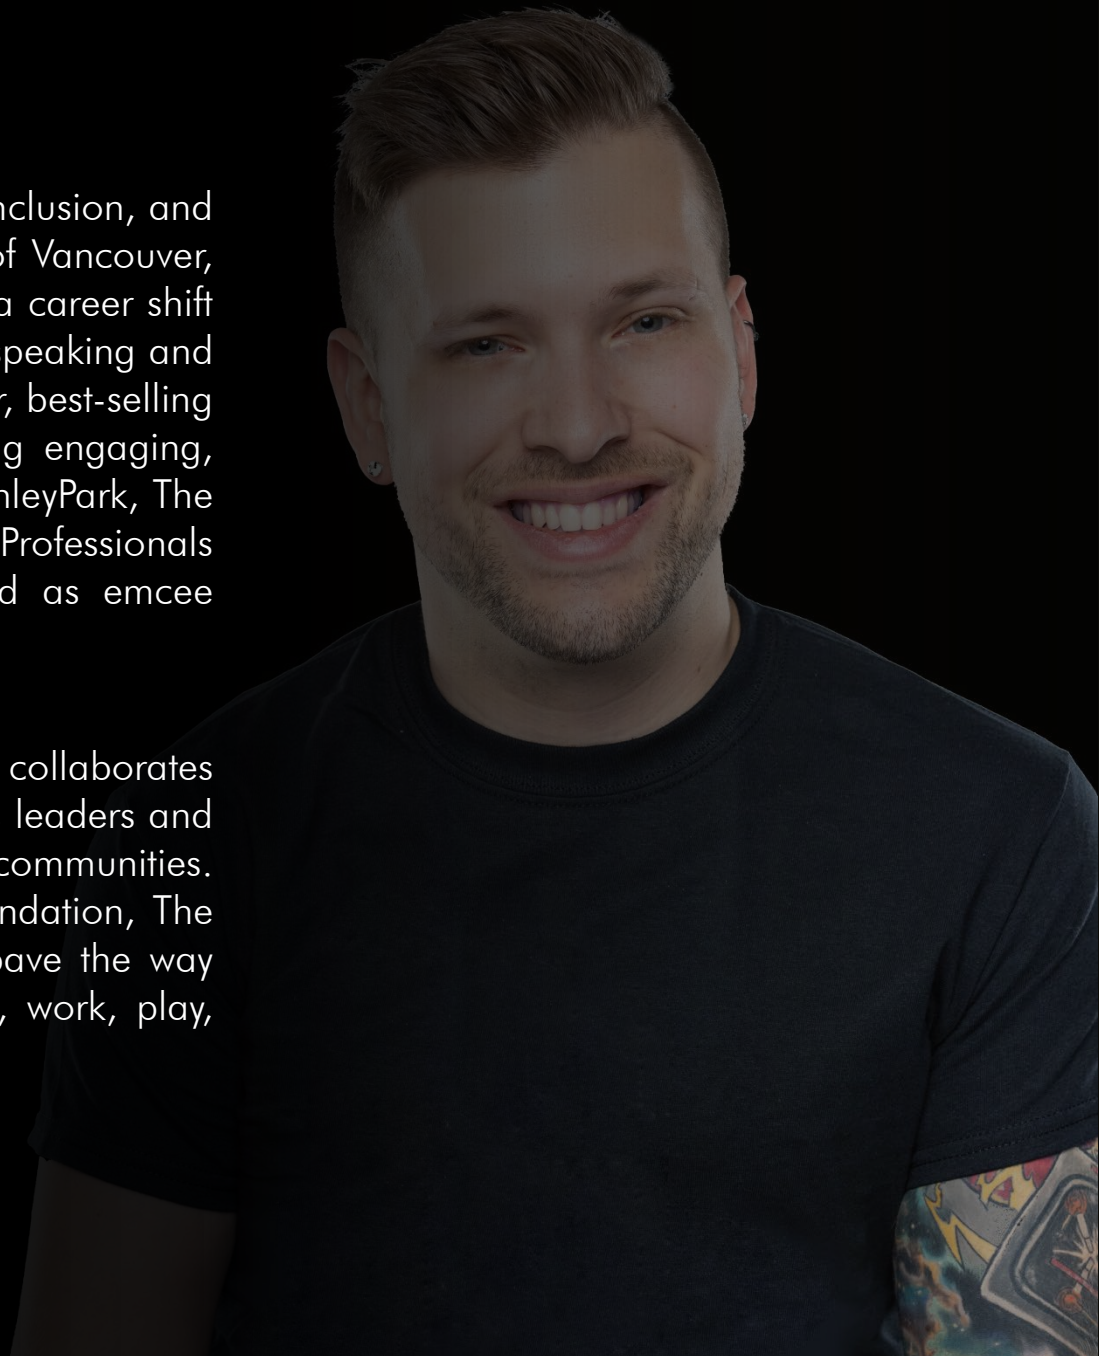

His speaking engagements have taken him to some of the most respected stages, including TEDxStanleyPark, The Duke of Edinburgh Awards, and as emcee of the Accessibility Professionals Networking Conference (APN) since its inception. His impact has earned him prestigious accolades, including being named "Entrepreneur of the Year" by the Self-Employment and Entrepreneur Development Society and being recognized as a Paul Harris Fellow by Rotary International.

Marco believes that success isn't measured by financial transactions—it's built through human interactions. Through his work, he continues to challenge perceptions, break barriers, and inspire audiences to rethink what's possible when accessibility and inclusion are prioritized.

SHORT BIO

Marco Pasqua is a recognized leader in accessibility, inclusion, and social impact. After graduating from the Art Institute of Vancouver, he spent five years in the video game industry before a career shift in 2010 set him on a path to inspire change through speaking and consulting. Today, he is an award-winning entrepreneur, best-selling author and sought-after speaker, known for delivering engaging, thought-provoking keynotes at events such as TEDxStanleyPark, The Duke of Edinburgh Awards, and the Accessibility Professionals Networking Conference (APN), where he has served as emcee since its inception.

As an Accessibility and Inclusion Consultant, Marco collaborates with some of North America's most influential business leaders and changemakers to create accessible workplaces and communities. His work with organizations like the Rick Hansen Foundation, The Presidents Group, and HireForTalent.ca has helped pave the way for universal access to the spaces where people live, work, play, and learn.

KEYNOTE PRESENTATIONS & WORKSHOPS

At the heart of Marco's keynotes and workshops is The CUBE Principle, a transformative framework designed to help individuals and organizations navigate challenges, build authentic relationships, and take purposeful action toward meaningful impact.

CUBE stands for Creatively Utilize your Best Energy—a mindset shift that empowers individuals to adapt, collaborate, and create lasting connections in both personal and professional spaces.

Marco seamlessly integrates The CUBE Principle into his presentations, providing audiences with practical strategies to strengthen relationships, overcome barriers, and harness the power of human connection.

Key Takeaways for Your Audience:

- ✓ Creative Problem-Solving – Learn how to reframe challenges and innovate solutions.
- ✓ Building and Maintaining Authentic Relationships – Develop trust, empathy, and meaningful connections that drive success.
- ✓ Direct Your Energy with Intention – Maximize your impact by focusing on what truly matters.

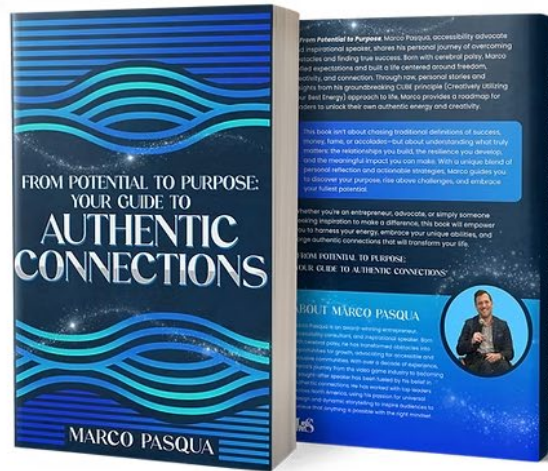

Whether he's working with corporate teams, entrepreneurs, or community leaders, Marco ensures his audiences leave with actionable insights and a renewed perspective on how authentic relationships and intentional action can unlock limitless potential.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT MARCO

I can't say enough about how great it was to work with Marco. He developed a customized presentation for our group based on several goals we had for our first diversity and inclusion discussion. His presentation was natural, engaging, and packed with personal experiences and real-life examples to illustrate the content and make it inspirational and entertaining, as well as a great learning experience. Marco's passion for the topic is obvious and our group loved it!

Bobbi Gohr, Director of Human Resources, Shiftboard

Marco is a powerful presence with an impactful message. He has a gift for sharing his story that is both humorous, authentic and jolts you to action. His energy transcends the screen or room - he speaks to you amongst a large room of people (virtual or on person). I highly recommend him as a speaker or facilitator!

Andrea Carey, Founder, INclusion INcorporated

I had the pleasure of running my company's first virtual event once COVID hit called the Stay at Home Gala, raising funds for local COVID relief efforts (food banks, shelters etc.). Marco Pasqua came on board as our event emcee and also provided a 10-minute inspiring k10-minuteour entire program only spanned one hour. Marco did an outstanding job keeping the program flowing and audience engaged, inspired and entertained. He was excellent to work with, full of great ideas and very responsive during the planning phase. We had a very tight timeline to produce this event. Marco brings a lot of great energy and enthusiasm which is incredibly helpful as an event manager. I look forward to working with Marco again before to long - hopefully for a live event

Sherryl Parsons, Owner/Event Planner at Rare Affairs Event Management Inc.

"I find Marco to be one of the most engaging speakers I have listened to in years. He combines an honest sincerity with a personable delivery and truly speaks from the heart when he relates his own particular journey. I believe that Marco is destined to become a very well-known motivational speaker. Watching him present to our small group is like being on the front edge of a windstorm. You know that the strongest experience is yet to come and when it does come, it will be fully immersing. I see great success for Marco in the very near future."

Rod Embree, Employment Specialist

Marco is unlike any other person I have met. He is one of the most inspiring people I have met in my life. Marco is smart, articulate, a person of great character, and someone who can accomplish anything. If you have not met Marco, you should. If your team has not heard him speak, you reach out to Marco and make that happen.
